ANNOUNCEMENTS

DAVIS THEATRE.

Big Bill of Super Features Today-Elsie Fergurson in "The Danger Mark," Six Part Artoraft Picture-Alma Rubens in "Madam Sphinx," Five Part Triangle Detective Story, and the Official U. S. War Review.

Affording her unusual opportunities for the display of her great historic talents. "The Danger Mark," a sixpart photoplay starring Elsie Pergusen the beautiful Arteraft star, will be shown at the Davis theatre, Mon-day, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. This is a notable picturization of Robert W. Chalmers' novel and the theme deals with the trials of a young societs woman of wealth who has in-herited a teste for intoxicants from her prandfather who has died a There is an interesting love story in which this young woman plans a consplcuous part. She man plans a conspicuous part. She is loved by a fortune hunter who induces her to elope, or rather, to make the attempt, for the affair serves only to bring her to the arms of the man she really loves. The photoplay was directed by Hugh Ford. The support is far above the ordinary and includes such well known screen players as Mahlen Hamilton. Gertrude McCoy, Crauford Kent, Maud Turner Gordon, Edward Burns and W. T. Carlston. The other hig feature on this bill is alma Reubens in Madam Sphinx, a clever detective story well told in five clever detective story well told in five exciting parts. The U. S. Official Re-view completes the show. This offi-cial war review will be shown at the theatre every Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, and every week there will be new scenes of our boys and our al-lies marching on to victory, and you cannot afford to miss seeing any of these pictures.

THE AUDITORIUM.

William Farnum in Hall Caine's Novel, "The Bondman." a Great Actor, a Thrilling Story-Chaplin in "The Rink," and the Latest Current Events.

Six of William Fox's greatest motion pictures have been revised, brought up to 1918 standards and will be shown to a public that will certainly appreciate them. One of these, "The Bond-man," taken from the stirring novel by Hall Caine, will be placed on the screen at the Auditorium theatre to day, tomorrow and Monday. This the photoplay in which William Farnum made one of the biggest hits of has more power, more big moments than most of the productions being issund newadays. In its new form it is even more gripping than when it was first given to an appreciative world.

Charlie Chaplin in "The Rink," without a doubt one of his best and funniest pictures, and the latest Current Events will be shown today also.

BREED THEATRE.

Bessie Love in Her Latest Photodrama, "How Could You, Caroline?" Feature For Today and Tuesday.

Today and Tuesday the Breed will present the charming little star, Bessie Love, in "How Could You Caroline" This is her second Pathe play and the story gives her ample opporturity to display her remarkable tal-ent in young girl parts. The story deals with the exciting and amusing deals with the exciting and amusing adventures of Capline Rogers, an ultra-romantic school girl, at the caramel and novel-devouring age. The story was written by Isola Forrester and Maun Page and the picture was directed by Frederick Thompson. Supporting the star are such good screen players as James Morrisson, Dudley Harley, Henry Hallam, Edna Earland Amelia Summerville.

The 19th chanter of The Ragier Eye" will also be shown and the latest war news in the Heart-Pathe weekly comprises the bill for today and Tuesday.

ATTRACTIVE REAL ESTATE

-AT-PUBLIC SALE

FRIDAY, AUG. 9, 1918, at 10.30 o'cleck a. m.

FRIDAY, AUG. 9, 1918,
at 16.30 o'cleck a.m.

Having decided to make a change in my business, and having no further use for my farm, I will sell the same as advertised above at public sale, described as follows:
Formerly owned by the inte Leander B, Hill, of 30 acres, including a small woodlot, with plenty of cord wood and some timber, which will be sold separately from the farm property if desired.

The buildings consist of a story and a half house of 7 rooms, well painted and in good repair, a carriage house and barn with horse stalls and ticups for 4 head of cattle, and a new poultry house. There are 30 bearing apple and pear trees, in fact, this would make an ideal fruit and poultry farm for one man to manage. It is located in the Town of Preston, New London County, about 6½ miles from Indiantown road station on the Norwich and Westerly car line. In Preston City there are churches, schools, stores, etc., convenient for all kinds of trading. Near the farm is a fine lake suitable for bathing and fishing. Included in the sale are the following articles of personal property: I buggy, I plow, I cultivator. I grindstone, I brooder, I 120-egg incubator, I farm harness, I buggy harness, and other small tools of all kinds.

Terms of sale, 10 per cent, of purchase will be required as a deposit at time of sale and the balance to be paid when the deeds are drawn. It will be necessary to adhere to these terms, as I shall leave immediacily after the sale, which will take place rain or shine.

POETRY

SEND HIM A PAPER.

Said Private Jimmy Barkis as he chatted with his mates,
"I wonder what they're doin in the old United States;
Is Ty Cobb hittin doubles in the way he used to do? he used to do?

Is Speaker peggin' runners with that same old deadly throw?

I wish I had a paper from the home town, old or new,

An' could read about the people an' the places that I know.

"I can't get interested in the Daily
Mail or Times.
I want the home town paper with its latest local crimes.
I'm wondering who has married since the day I marched away.
Who's been buried since I left there,
Oh, it seems so long age!
For a copy of the paper I would give up six months' pay.
There's so much I'd like to read of an' so much I want to know."

Said Private Jimmy Barkis, "It's a funny thing to me
But they seem to think a paper we don't ever want to see.
They write us cheerful letters an' they send us things to wear,
They send us good tobacco, an' we're mighty grateful, too,
But they plumb forget a paper from the old town over there
Is a thing we'd never part with till we'd read it through and through."
